

These FIAT 626 trucks come from Lewis Davis at Minimi Miniatures. Full details at www.minimi.co.uk.

The vehicles are cast in resin and come as one piece. They are cast with a base and the gap between the chassis and the base is solid. On my trucks I removed the base with a mini-drill so that the clearance under the chassis was restored. This does give a very basic look to their undersides but this is not really noticeable until you take a photo like the one above from the side at table top level!!

Whilst I have no drawings to check accuracy, chatting to Lewis, it becomes very clear very quickly that he spends a long time making sure his models are right and these vehicles certainly look the part when compared with photographs.

The typical “foreign” look of the cab fronts and the balance of the vehicles looks right.

At under £5 a piece, you have to say that these are true value for money and I would commend you to explore Lewis’s web site for anything you might need.

The current list is a mix of standards and oddments - Opel Blitz trucks through to Indian Pattern Carriers. If there is something you need, let him know - he keeps a keen ear open for what the public demands.

Overall, little to fault and plenty to want you reaching for the price list to see what else is on offer. The bases might not be your taste but you can always cut them out as I have.
